

Instructions When Reading Nonfiction Books for Home Reading

1. Include the title and date as usual. Include the author if possible. If you cannot find the author's name, don't worry about it.
2. For the three main events, write down three facts that you learned or that you found to be very interesting.
3. For your reflection, try the following:
 - something that surprised you
 - something that reminds you of an event in your life
 - question(s) that you might have that the book did not answer
 - new question(s) that you now have because of the ideas that you have read
4. For the vocabulary word box, do as usual.
